LIKELY TO WAIVE THEIR PRELIMINARY

New Evidence Develops in the Case and that to Be Submitted Today is the Same as First Advanced.

LINCOLN, Aug. 19 .- (Special.)-At 10 o'clock tomorrow morning will occur the preliminary hearing of Cliff Hagey, charged by the coroner's jury with being responsible for the death of W. F. Eyster of Chambersburg, Pa. The two Clark women, Maud and Laura, charged with being accessories to the crime, will be examined at the same time. It is considered likely that the defense will waive examination to a great extent, submitting little testimony and allowing the defendants to be bound over to the district court. Today Chief Melick said there was nothing new in the case and that the evidence submitted tomorrow would be substantially the same as that adduced before the coroner. The police have received or-ders to close up all the wine rooms con-adopted.

gain his victory Carver did not put up an exceptionally good game by any means. Austin apparently was unable to come up to the occasion. His balls fell short and dropped into the net. Out of twenty-eight points to Carver's credit in the first set Austin gave no less than a dozen by driving into the net and half as many again by sending out of the court. In the second set he gave Carver eleven by throwing the ball into the net, and nine more by sending it out of court, the total points being wenty-seven. Carver played an easy game, which was

Carver played an easy game, which was especially marked by his beautiful lobbing. He gained a good many of his points directly on his service stroke, which Austin frequently was unable to return. This was in direct contrast to Austin, who could not win on his service. Carver also displayed a good deal more head work than his opponent. He seemed to divine where the ball was coming and was usually in place. Aus-tin, on the other hand, was compelled to run from one part of the court to the other continually, and seemed to cover several times more ground than his opponent.

The game was as a whole not very interesting, probably from the fact that it was

HASKELL AND CONDEE. The match between Haskell and Conde rarely that two better matched players than these two appear upon the courts. Both were in to win, and as a consequence every point in the match was contested in royal fashion. It was only in the three last games of the third and final set that the match was eally decided. Haskell should certain! have won because in the concluding set the score was 4-3 in his favor with him at scrvice. Here he fell down, however, and Condee won out with three straight games.

The honors were evenly divided. Both placed excellently. Both returned difficult balls with beautiful strokes. The rallies were long and fine, and were usually con-cluded by a brilliant drive, which rarely passed without an effort being made at r eturn. Condee was a trifle weak on lobs and Haskell might possibly have done better in he had adopted this style of play. There is no doubt, however, that the aggressive game

From the score it will be seen that in the three sets each player obtained thirteen games, and that Haskell made three nore points than Condee, he getting a total of eighty-two and Condee a total of seventynine. This indicates the quality of the two

There was no other important match, although that between Bond and Stoker may be mentioned on account of the former's play. His strokes were frequently brilliant and out of the orlinary, from the fact that they were invariably driven hard. He seemed to be a trifle erratic. The Farns-worth-Wilder match was also noteworthy from the fact that the first player, the 15year-old boy from Grand Island, won out. Wilder is a Kansas City man.

The morning's results in the singles were as follows: Rond beat Stoker, 6-2, 6-4. Waidner beat Hardy, 6-1, 6-1. Carver beat Austin, 6-1, 6-1.

Second round: Farnsworth beat Wilder, 6-3, 7-5, Condee beat Haskell, 1-6, 6-3, 6-4, Haverstick beat Williams, 6-4, 6-4. DOUBLES FALL FLAT.

The most interesting match in the doubles n the afternoon was that between W. D. Bond and Guy Hardy, a Chicago team, and M. Hopkins and R. H. Spencer. The Omaha pair put up a rattling game, Hopkins being especially in evidence. He, more than his partner, was responsible for the fact that Omaha came out of the match with a re-spectable showing. It would have seemed as if the Omaha pair should have done even cago lads, however, set a pace from that point and won three in succession. The score was 6-2, 6-3.

Another Chicago team defeated an Omaha pair. R. W. Condee and F. Anderson won from G. E. Haverstick and M. Colpetzer in from G. E. Haverstick and M. Colpetzer in two successive sets. The match was rather easy and fairly won on its merits. THE CENTAUN COMPANY, TO MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY

Has views on the silver question which the people of the West should in fairness learn. New England has invested her savings largely in western enterprises. She has sent her sons and daughters to establish their homes in the West. New England looks to her children and grandchildren in the West to aid in the right settlement of the issue of honest money, in the common interest of all sections of our common country.

OF SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

Is a leading newspaper of New England, whose edtorial opinions are more widely quoted than those of any journal in that section. It has always kept in close touch with the Great West, Its famous editor, the late Samuel Bowles, wrote several important books about the West. The Republican of today, though an earnest advocate of the cause of sound money, is not bigoted or narrow-minded. It is temperate in tone, fair to opponents and thoroughly independent. It is ever the honest and courageous advocate of the true causes of the common people.

An able, interesting and attractive 12-page news and family journal, will be sent until January 1, 1897, for 25 cents. The price for a year is $1.00. The price of The Daily Republican without Sunday is $2.00 a quarter, with Sunday $2.50. Specimen copies free.

AMERICAN IN EVERYTHING

ALWAYS FOR THE PEOPLE

The Financial Ouestion is an issue between Patriotism and Americanism on the one hand; Revolution and Repudiation on the other. This is a grave crisis in the welfare of our country, and the good citizens of the West must keep in touch with the good citizens of the East. Pennsylvania has long been the banner Republican State. It is staunch and true for Sound Money, and this great cause has no advocate more earnest, none more capa-

Kansas City League Team Monday. Next Monday the University club will have a chance to show what it can do with the real stuff. James Manning, with his the real stuff. James Manning, with his Kansas City Blues of the Western league will be here for a game with the local champions at University park. James has a hard series before him upon his arrival in Kansas City, and in view of that fact will probably put in some dub pitcher here and save his good ones. If he does that the local fans will watch carefully to see the old leaguer get a few surprises.
